Proposal 1 Appropriation of surplus

Returning appropriate levels of profits to all shareholders is one of the most important management issues for the Company. Proposal 2 Approval of absorption-type company split agreement

1. Reasons for executing absorption-type company split

Since starting radio broadcasting in 1951 and television broadcasting in 1956, the Company has provided entertainment programs and news reporting to the Kinki broadcasting area and nationwide through affiliated networks as a broadcaster operating both radio and television, while striving forward to meet the expectations of all stakeholders, by building a corporate group centered on the broadcasting business, and leading the way in society and culture as the Company contributes to increasing the security and richness of the lives of citizens and local communities.

However, the media environment surrounding the broadcasting business is in the midst of a period of rapid change where it is difficult to forecast a vision for the future, and in line with technological innovation, the lifestyles of citizens have also changed significantly. Additionally, in content-related businesses, there are entrants from other industries that cross the boundaries of broadcasting, communications, and domestic and international borders, and we are moving to an age when adapting to diversity is required. In the future, in order for the Company to maximize the content creation and media development, which are its strengths, and realize sustainable growth and development, we have judged that it is desirable to build a structure for making agile and flexible management decisions for the group as a whole, by splitting the television and radio businesses and moving to a holding company structure.

In order that the Company can succeed as we look toward the future, including development into new business areas in addition to the broadcasting business and other businesses, the Company will, as a certified broadcasting holding company, formulate group management strategies and strategies for content production and media development, take on a supervisory function with regard to the business execution of subsidiaries, and enhance the management functions of the group as a whole. The television business company will closely coordinate with each group company, including the radio business company, as it executes business based on rapid decision-making and further strengthens its competitiveness, thus contributing to growth and the enhancement of value for the group as a whole.

Furthermore, subject to the approval of this proposal, the succession of the radio broadcasting business of the Company to an operating company shall be conducted without obtaining approval at a general meeting of shareholders, pursuant to the provisions of Article 784, Paragraph 2 and Article 796, Paragraph 1 of the Companies Act.
